Tax Plan Reclaimed In House; Strength To Whip Veto Seen

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—The House and means committee stamped 18-to-6 approval on the new Republican-backed $4,000,000,000 tax slashing bill today, and a surprise shift in Democratic votes prompted claims that another Presidential veto can be overridden.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) said more than two-thirds vote—enough to override a veto—is now available in the House. He told reporters he expects as many as 20 Democrats to change over in support of the bill.

Martin set next Tuesday for the showdown vote in the House. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said the Senate probably will take up the measure late next week, but there were rumblings of a possible filibuster to block action in the Senate.

Rep. Dougherty (D-N.C.), who managed tax legislation when the Democrats controlled Congress, was one of the 18 committee members who voted in favor of the measure today. He supported President Truman's veto of the first tax bill.

In the committee action months ago on the original Knutson Tax bill, the vote was 16 to 9. Only one Democrat voted with the Republicans. Today, Dougherty and two other Democrats joined the 15 Republicans.

All six opposing votes were by Democrats. One Democratic leader in the House, who asked that his name be withheld, told reporters following the committee's action.

"My opinion is the President will veto the new bill. My guess is that Congress will pass it over his veto."

But a Democratic strategist in the Senate also asking anonymity, said a preliminary check indicates that a veto might be upheld in the Senate.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo.), finished on Page Three.

BRITON WARNS OF U. N. FUTURE
Key to Balkan Peace Needed, Cadogan Says; Backs U. S. Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, July 3 (AP)—Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain told the United Nations today they had better "tear up the charter—and pack up" if the Security Council could not stop the Balkan disorders on the basis proposed by the United States.

Cadogan, who has played a leading role in U. N. affairs since the founding days at Dumbarton Oaks and the 1945 San Francisco charter conference, also warned the council that its prestige would suffer if it "shirked" its duty in the Balkans case.

"If we cannot apply proposals such as those submitted by the (Balkan inquiry) commission and now in the United States resolution, we had better tear up the charter—and pack up," Cadogan said in a 17-minute speech to the council.

The proposals to which he referred would have the Security Council establish a commission to stay indefinitely in the Balkans, to watch the troubled Greek border zone, and to try for a settlement of the controversy.

The Balkans have been before the Security Council for the first time.

FEDERAL JURY CONVICTS MAY, TWO GARSSONS

Former Congressman Guilty of Bribe Charge; Appeal Dishes Sentence

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—A Federal jury today convicted former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) and his two co-defendants, Henry and Murray Garsson, on bribery charges involving May's role as wartime chairman of the House military committee.

The jury deliberated one hour and 30 minutes in reaching its verdict of guilty on all three counts against each of the trio.

Maximum penalty would be six years in prison and $30,000 fine for each defendant.

May, in tears as the jury foreman intoned the word "guilty," subsequently told newsmen:

"I'm still not daunted—we'll appeal it."

Defense Attorney Charles J. Margott told the court he would move within the next five days for a judgment of acquittal, an arrest of judgment, and a new trial.

Justice Henry A. Schwab deferred sentence pending the filing of motions.

Henry Garsson, 50, so-called "brains" of the $70,000,000 Garsson wartime munitions combine, calmly read a novel while the jury deliberated.

His brother, Murray, 54, kept as he left the courtroom. All three were continued on $2000 bonds.

May, now 72, was convicted of taking $53,534.97 in bribes from the Garsson brothers in payment for using his powerful congressional influence to get favors for the Garsson shell-making enterprises.

The brothers were found guilty of conspiring to defraud the United States of May's services through bribery. The Government contended the Garssons set May up in the lumber business, as head of the Cumberland Lumber company, in Kentucky, as a "blind" to conceal bribery payments.

The jury of seven men and five women returned their verdict with surprising rapidity in view of the (Continued on Page Three)

New Law to Affect Hotel Rents Slightly

Following the death of OPA hotel rent controls, Pottstown hotel owners said yesterday that residents of their establishments would be affected slightly or not at all.

Stanley S. Chaplin, owner of the Shuler House, said yesterday that his present rents were satisfactory and that no increase was contemplated.

Pointing out that his transient rates are the rent of many rooms in his hotel, he said that he would not be raising rents.

George Kessler, co-owner of the Merchants' hotel, said the rent of the permanent residents of several rooms in his establishment would be raised slightly.

"We've been in the hole in the operation of a few rooms for several years," he declared, "and those are the only rents we will raise."

He emphasized that the boost would be extremely moderate and would affect only a few permanent residents.

County GOP Leaders Set on New Slate With Exception of District Attorney Post

By Staff Correspondent
NORRISTOWN, July 3 — It was understood, in political circles here today, that the County Republican organization has just about decided who will be endorsed for nomination to row offices at the Primary election, Sept. 8—with the single exception of district attorney.

Whether Frederick B. Smilie will be accepted for another term as prosecutor remains a mystery to party workers and the public alike, and from all indications the GOP bigwigs are as much as sea as anyone else.

Reliable sources said here this afternoon that County Commissioner Fred Peters is the only slate-maker opposed to Smilie. The others, including Senator Lloyd Wood, and Har-

CUT THREATENS 2 OFFICES HERE

Effort Made to Retain Local VA, Tax Staffs Despite Fund Slashes

Cuts in Federal appropriations for the Internal Revenue department and the Veterans Administration may affect both Pottstown offices, it was learned yesterday by the Philadelphia offices of both agencies are working to retain them as they are.

Joseph F. J. Mayer, assistant to the collector of internal revenue, Philadelphia, yesterday said his office is working to retain the Pottstown office by transferring personnel from one office to another to replace cutters dropped because of the appropriations cut.

"Things are still rather mixed up here," he said, "but we are working on the problem and will continue to work on it through the beginning of next week."

Mayer asserted that 200 men had been dismissed so far and that he did not know how many more would receive their notice. Many of the men were war personnel who had not taken civil service examinations, including 16 veterans.

"We are going to try to keep the Pottstown office," he declared, "but we won't be able to tell definitely until next week."

At the regional office of the Veterans' Administration in Philadelphia, Miss Margaret Wellbank, contact officer, said the Pottstown office will be unaffected at the present time, but that nothing definite could be said for the future.

According to Miss Wellbank, present plans call for the retention of the Pottstown office, but future cuts in the allocation of funds might affect it.

Huge Parade to Be Highlight Of Firemen's Event Today

The explosion of 25 bombs on the South Washington street playgrounds, and a blast on the fire whistle will launch the largest parade in Pottstown's history at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Weather for the occasion is predicted to arrive a happy medium, a bit warmer than cool temperatures, but not as hot as normal July weather.

According to Ammon Heidt, chairman of the parade committee, one and a quarter million dollars worth of firefighting equipment will take part in the huge procession calling for 4200 persons in line.

Arrival of a few fire companies from Delaware yesterday noon began the influx of a total of 76 organizations scheduled to participate. Those arriving yesterday were made guests of the Philadelphia Steam

Fire Engine company, where they are being quartered. Heidt announced that all arrangements for the gala affair are completed and added that any additional groups desiring to enter the parade may do so by registering sometime between 9 o'clock this morning and 12 noon.

The parade, broken up into seven separate divisions, will begin at 1 p.m. on High street at Green, and will follow High street westward to York. On York, it will proceed to King street, then to Manatony, finishing at Manatony park.

The celebration, which is honoring the formal housing of new pieces of fire-fighting equipment procured in the past year by Pottstown's three companies, will take place immediately after the end of the parade passes the reviewing stand.

Bureau William A. Griffith will be in charge of the ceremony. Traffic regulations, drafted by Chief of Police James A. Laughead, Parade Director Daniel S. Drumheller, and Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer, will keep the parade route clear. Parking of cars between noon until after the parade will not be allowed between Manatony and Adams streets and between Madison street and Botsdale drive. Parking will be allowed on both sides of High street between Adams and Madison streets.

Fifteen cash prizes totaling $4100 will be awarded various parade groups. The awards, for which Pottstown organizations are not eligible, will be made after the parade ends in Manatony park and after the judges make their announcement.

Work will have begun at 6 o'clock this morning on construction of the reviewing stand, which will be erected on the north side of High street.

There will be some additional force added to the regular holiday staff of operators at the Bell Telephone company office this afternoon and tonight. Willard L. Kline, manager, stated.

Police Hold Suspect In Attempted Rape

Police last night were holding a man in borough hall on suspicion of having attempted to rape a five-year-old girl in the fields in the North Hills boulevard section yesterday afternoon.

The girl, who was examined at Memorial hospital, told police that she and a companion, a seven-year-old girl, went out to play after their noon meal, and decided to pick strawberries.

A neighbor, the girl continued, offered them a ride in his truck. He took the children to a dump where, the youngster asserted, the assault occurred.

Borough Gets an Option on Airport Site

The first concrete step in the acquisition of a municipal airport for Pottstown was taken yesterday when the borough purchased a nine-months option on the Stowe airport owned by John Basco, 511 Fairview street, Stowe.

The option, which was purchased for $500, was signed in the office of Borough Solicitor C. Edmund Wells at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The check, which put the borough in the airport business for at least a year, was signed by Basco or Borough Manager Dow I. Sears, Leon C. MacMullen, co-chairman of the citizens' airport committee, yesterday hailed the action as a primary victory for the group.

Davidson Jr., are specifically charged with the engineering factors involved and are forwarding an immediate topographical survey of the site and the adjacent acreage."

It is hoped that this survey will be completed within the next four weeks and then we will launch our campaign for funds. At the moment, there is no reason why the Pottstown airport should not be a mighty busy place before snow flies, with actual construction well under way."

FORMER BOXER QUESTIONED IN FATAL ATTACK

William Henderson Dies; Douglassville Man Hit At Bramcote Hotel Bar

William E. Henderson, 46-year-old Douglassville plumber, was fatally injured early last night during what authorities termed a drunken brawl at the Bramcote hotel and early this morning police picked up his suspected assailant.

Louis Foster, 37, a former heavy-weight boxer, was the suspect taken into custody by State police. Proceeding on information obtained earlier in the evening, police drove to a house in Flowing Springs, Chester county, where Foster was attending a party.

Montgomery county Detective James E. Gleason said that Foster offered no resistance, and that he appeared sober when he was brought back to Pottstown, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning.

Foster, who is a resident of New York City, is spending his vacation here. He was due to return to his home this weekend. At one time he was employed as a guard at the Seamen's Institute, New York, and is believed to be similarly employed at another institution in that city.

Details of how Henderson met his death were vague, police said, explaining that witnesses to the fight in the hotel bar room had left the scene when they were called into the case to investigate.

But, from pieces of information obtained from customers at the bar, they gave this description of the fatal assault.

Henderson had entered the hotel several hours earlier, parking his light pick-up truck outside. He engaged in conversation with (Continued on Page Three)

19 Members Elected By Phillies Firemen

A meeting of the Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company was held last night, with President Henry Schmoey presiding. Nineteen were elected members and 21 applications were received.

A report on the parade prospects was made by Ammon Heidt. The company, and auxiliary will have large turnout in the parade. The old hand umpire of the company will be in line as well as the modern pieces of fire fighting apparatus.

The company last night entertained the members of the fire company at Newport Del. They will take part in today's parade.

24 Awards to Go To Winning Teams In Pushmobile Derby

A prize list of 24 awards, headed by four deluxe bicycles, for the Kiwanis club's Pushmobile Derby to be held on High Street Wednesday, July 16, was announced last night by Russell R. Tyson, chairman of the club's prize committee.

Duplicate awards will be made throughout. Tyson said, with the members of the winning teams in boy's Class A and Class B receiving identical prizes. Class A is for boys from 12 to 15 years inclusive, and Class B is for boys 9 to 11 years inclusive.

The bicycles will be the derby's first prize awards. Second-place winners will receive wrist watches, third-place winners will receive cameras and fourth-place winners will receive a pair of moccasins apiece, Tyson said.

In addition two special awards will be made out. For the racers judged to be the best constructed in each class, their builders will receive chemical laboratory sets. The construction judged to be the "funniest" will net their creators a baseball and bat each.

Kiwanis club members donated all prizes. They will be displayed in downtown stores next week, Tyson said.

NEW TAX BILL —

ance committee chairman, told newsmen that the prospects of overriding in the Senate "look good and I'm hopeful."

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who has been lining up Democratic support for the new measure, still claimed 61 certain Senate votes to override, with an additional 13 or 14 "in prospect."

If Mr. Truman vetoes the new measure, it would require 64 votes to override if all Senators were present and voting.

House Ways and Means chairman Knutson (R-Minn.), author of the bill, said it would yield $39,900,000,000 in revenues in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948—enough, he said, "to pay at least $5,000,000,000 on the national debt in the next 12 months."

The bill approved today is identical with the measure vetoed by Mr. Truman June 16 as the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time—except that the effective date of the tax cut is next Jan. 1 instead of July 1, 1947.

The House sustained Mr. Truman's first veto as the move to override fell two votes short of the needed two-thirds.

The new Knutson bill as approved provides:

1. Effective date next Jan. 1—not July 1, 1947, the date of the bill Mr. Truman vetoed.

2. A 30 percent tax slash for persons with less than $1000 taxable income (income after personal exemptions and deductions).

3. A 20 percent cut on taxable incomes between $1395 and $1371,000.

4. A 15 percent cut on income between $137,000 and $302,000.

5. A 10.5 percent cut in any income above $302,000.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) told reporters he does not see how Mr. Truman could accept a measure identical—save for the effective date—to a bill which he said in his veto message provided the "wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

Although it will be closed today, John D. O'Donnell, contact representative, announced that the Veterans' Administration office would be open tomorrow until 12:30 o'clock. O'Donnell said it would enable veterans who are working over the weekend to reinstate their government insurance.

Nearly all of Pottstown's major industries will be closed over the weekend. Those that will be operating are the Firestone Tire and Rubber company and the Robinson Clay Products company.

several other men customers at the bar.

At one point in the conversation, an argument developed and Henderson was struck one or more blows by another man, described as short and stockily built.

A call was made to the Good Will Fire company here and, when an ambulance arrived, Henderson was found in the front seat of his truck outside of the hotel, his feet protruding from the cab. Blood was flowing from his mouth.

Henderson was taken to Pottstown Hospital where an intern, Dr. R. Allen Schofield, pronounced him dead at 6:45 p. m. Four front teeth had been jarred loose, but no other injuries were apparent.

Hospital authorities immediately called Montgomery County Detective Gleason, Collegeville State police and Coroner Winslow J. Rushong. Dr. John C. Simpson, Phoenixville, the coroner's physician, was summoned to perform an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

Dr. Simpson's autopsy showed that Henderson had suffered a fracture at the base of his skull, apparently the result of a fall. Rushong said that Henderson had been struck and that the fatal injury resulted when he hit the floor.

Joining in the investigation and search for Henderson's assailant were Assistant District Attorney Henry Miller and State Troopers Donald C. Bearcraft, Lynn Ager and Leon Zimmerman, of the Collegeville substation.

Throughout the night they questioned a number of persons who had been in the Bramcote hotel before or after the fatal assault.

One Pottstown man, who said he arrived at the hotel shortly after the incident, said he heard confused conversation, one customer remarking what a hard blow Henderson had received. He said the assailant, still sitting at the bar, declared, "I didn't think he was hurt."

A resident of the hotel said he saw Henderson drinking at the bar before 6 p. m. Describing the scene, he said, "I went to the bar about 6 o'clock and saw Henderson drinking there. Then I went upstairs to dress and shave, and when I came down again, the whole thing was over."

Henderson is survived by his wife, Esther, a son, Allen Lee, and two brothers, Oliver and George, all of Douglassville.

The body was removed to a Burdette funeral home for services which were held last night.

covers only the land occupied by the airport. It allows Basco full, but not exclusive, operation privileges on the field.

Although not represented by counsel at the meeting, Basco later had his attorney, Carroll L. Rutter, check and approve the option.

Following the purchase of the option yesterday afternoon, Sears notified Albert H. Wessel, district engineer of the CAA, and William I. Anderson, executive director of the State Aeronautics commission, of the approval of the borough council and the subsequent option purchase.

The notification is intended to assure both the State and Federal governments that definite action has been and will be taken on the project.

The citizen's committee, according to MacMullen, will ask William J. Boden, Pottstown Republican leader, to request the services of the county engineer in aiding with the survey of the field.

At the meeting yesterday when the option was taken were Sears, MacMullen, Wells, Basco, Raymond H. Piersol, co-chairman of the citizen's committee, and J. Max Cresswell, chairman of the airport committee of the borough council.

Harberger Retires As President of Kiwanis Club Here

Expressing his appreciation toward associates and fellow members, George Harberger retired as president of the Kiwanis club when the group held a regular session last night in the Elks home.

Harberger presented the president's pin to a newly installed president, Carl Shoemaker, while Andrew Vaughan Jr. gave the past president's pin to Harberger. Ernest Kulp was named vice president of the organization and the secretary-treasurer seat was filled by Hilary Missmer.

Vaughan introduced a new board of directors at the meeting. They are Kenneth Howard, Melvin Feroe, Herman Mack, George Brown, George Harberger, Ernest Kulp and Carl Shoemaker.

Shoemaker gave a short speech as new president and introduced Willard Kline as new program committee chairman.

Guests attending the meeting included Gordon Rose, B. Frank Hafer and Chester White, of the Boyertown Kiwanis, N. Paul Youngblood, of the Roversford-Spring City club, and John H. Brownley and Walter W. Josephson, of the Central Parkmen club. Dr. H. C. Bauman attended as guest of Lester Daub.

A quintet of the Boyertown guests, Dr. Paul Hafer, and George Harberger provided entertainment with a song rendition in Pennsylvania Dutch.

TRAFFIC TOLL —

problem in history, and a prediction of 275 deaths over the weekend underlined Laughhead's warning.

Pennsylvania State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm also exhorted the motoring public that "every driver must do his share if he wants to be alive on Monday." He said that all available State police would be assigned to highway duty.

Every member of the local police force will be on duty this weekend, with 35 to 40 fire police augmenting their efforts to keep Pottstown safe.

All traffic will be cleared from High street today during the firemen's parade, with resultant detours adding to the already heavy traffic problem.

Laughhead asserted that the use of fireworks within the borough limits is illegal. In addition to breaking the law, anyone celebrating the Fourth with rockets and flares takes the risk of bad burns and permanent injuries, he added.

For stay-at-homes, problems other than traffic worries are ahead. Warm, bright summer weather will attract many to parks and pools, and deaths by drowning will take their usual holiday spurt.

length of the trial, which ran over a period of 11 weeks.

Witnesses at the trial included Secretary of State Marshall, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of War Patterson.

Patterson and Eisenhower testified that May came to them seeking wartime favors for the Garssons or their friends. Eisenhower said May twice sent him letters in Europe asking him to intervene in the courtmartial of Murray Garsson's son, an Army captain.

Altogether, the testimony of more than 100 witnesses running to 6000 pages went into the trial record.

At the core of the case was the disputed ownership of the Cumberland company, in the mountains near May's Kentucky home. The Garssons poured almost $50,000 into the firm.

The Government claimed the Garssons bought the firm for May. May claimed he merely acted as manager of the company. He acknowledged he took in all the money the Garssons sent him for the firm, but maintained that he "paid it all back—every cent of it" or spent it on the firm.

May conceded that he represented himself as the company's owner. But he said this was only to conceal the real ownership from his fellow Kentuckians. He said they would not have worked for the company if they had known that the owners were "out-of-state Jews."

U. N. COUNCIL —

U. N. ever since the London assembly in January, 1946. The present commission was formed by the council the past December after Greece formally asked the council to investigate the whole situation.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister who has fought Cadogan and Warren R. Austin, United States, at every point on the Balkans quarrel, listened impassively as Cadogan spoke. Gromyko is slated to reply in an hour-long speech Tuesday.

Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazil, joined Cadogan in supporting the resolution offered the past week by Austin. Muniz was the only other speaker today.

Cadogan expressed agreement with the Balkans commission's majority conclusions that Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania were behind the disorders, a finding which those countries and Russia and Poland have denied.

Striking a Sover objection that a commission would be an interference into the sovereign rights of the Balkan states, Cadogan said that sovereign rights in these days "do not retain their pristine inviolability."

"Whatever the rights or wrongs of the situation may be, and to whatever causes the existence of the present conditions may be attributed," Cadogan said, "there is not, as I read the (commission) report, a single member of the commission who does not recognize that the present situation is unsatisfactory to the point of danger to the maintenance of international peace and security."

Cadogan said that it seems that "there we have a danger point." "It is just such a case as the United Nations was designed to meet," he continued. "We have practical proposals, which can perhaps be perfected and elaborated. We must try them. If they succeed, that will add enormously to the prestige of this body, which is the aim of all of us."

New Martin Plane Passes First Test

BALTIMORE, July 3 (AP) — The Martin 3-0-3, a five-mile a minute pressurized faster ship of the twin engine Martin 2-0-2 airliner, made a "highly successful" first flight today, the Glenn L. Martin company announced.

O. E. (Pat) Tibbs, director of flight for the concern, was at the controls with W. R. Turner as copilot. The plane was in the air 57 minutes, slightly longer than the usual initial flight of a new plane type.

The 3-0-3 is a low wing, tricycle landing gear monoplane as is the 2-0-2. It has a passenger capacity of from 36 to 39, and will cruise at 321 miles per hour at 19,300 feet, where the pressurized cabin will permit low altitude comfort for passengers.

The company said airlines which have announced orders include United, Northwest and Panagra.

Fire Companies Called To Four Minor Blazes

Pottstown fire companies responded to four calls yesterday. None of the fires was of a serious nature.

The Empire Hook and Ladder company responded to a call from the vicinity of Chestnut and Evans streets where a brush fire was burning in a rear yard. There was no property damage.

The Empires were called at 12:05 yesterday afternoon to a chimney fire at the home of Michael Braun, 870 Queen street. There was no property damage.

At 11 o'clock in the morning, the Good Will Fire company was summoned to the South Kenn street dump where rubbish again had burst into flames. A booster and chemical streams were used in extinguishing the fire.

At 6:10 o'clock last night the Empires were summoned to the home of Henry Strunk, 556 Walnut street. A pile of old lumber in the rear yard was on fire. The firemen extinguished the blaze with a booster stream. No property damage resulted.

In 1946 the United States produced 3,089,000 motor vehicles, three times the output of the rest of the world combined.

Italians All Excited; Find It's Wrong Eva

MILAN, Italy, July 3 (AP) — Eva Braun, but not THE Eva, did cash a check at the little South Tyrol town of Fondo two days ago — setting off speculation in the Italian press that Hitler's wife might still be alive.

Ther 32 is the 36-year-old Italian wife of a Milan lawyer, Alessandro Coppa, who went to the South Tyrol with her eight-month-old baby June 21 for a vacation. Her mother explained today that Eva's passport was made out in the name of Eva Braun and she showed it as identification to cash the check.

"Oh, she's no relation of the other Eva," her mother laughed.

GREYBEARD — It's a sign of old age, that inclination to reminisce about the good, old days. But do you remember the Fourth of July of your childhood days? Independence Day probably ranks next to Christmas for juvenile excitement. Children went to bed extra early so they could get up at the crack of dawn. A lot of extra jobs had been done prior to the Fourth so that the kids could have some extra silver for a one-day spending spree. The main stem was all polished up for the occasion. Runways draped strands

ON THE COMMONS the ladies' aid society took over. All day long women with flushed faces, perspiring brows and fancy aprons slaved over smoky kerosene stoves. They'd serve red beets and hard-boiled eggs, greasy potato salad, sliced ham and homemade cake. They'd make a few dollars to pay for the church's new hymnals. . . . In the morning there'd be a parade to the stand in the park, where the Congressmen would speak. The same little girls with the bunting dresses always had trouble with their carters. Their white stockines would

EITHER THE DRUMMER or the bass horn player in the band got too early a start at the beerkeg and he'd wobble a bit down the dusty street. But he'd reach the speakers' stand only as dripping wet as the rest of us, and was no more interested in the speaker's in-fact-more interested in the speaker. In fact, the speaker was the only person who liked to hear himself talk. Didn't need any public address system. You could hear him all over town. Some of the "tough" kids from across the tracks invariably would add excitement by setting off a homemade cannon. They'd brace it against one of the stand's struts, and the speakers' platform would sag . . .

'COURSE, we weren't too gentle with explosives, especially after we were big enough to use potash and sulphur. Placed on a trolley track, those piles would blast the car off the tracks and there'd be much fussin' and fumin'. Those little torpedo noisemakers were dangerous. You threw 'em on the sidewalks. Inside were bits of gravel and a lot of powder. The explosion would scatter the gravel, boring holes into our little legs. Many an eye was hurt, too . . .

THEN CAME THE CLIMAX — Every small town had a balloon ascension. The balloon was a huge canvas affair.

Early in the afternoon they'd start a fire under it. The smoke from that fire filled the balloon to make it ready to ascend. With a whoosh, the balloon would go up. Where the balloonist landed and how he got back always was a mystery. But he got back somehow. Then came the next day and the streets littered with red and white paper from the exploded cannon crackers. And the kids with burnt fingers. And how we searched for a "lady cracker" that perhaps didn't explode the day before. Fourth of July!

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
IF PEOPLE were more careful about drinking raw milk, doctors would not nearly so often be called upon to treat a case of undulant fever. As things are, however, this slow, enfeebling fever is constantly on the increase with more and more cases reported each year.

It is due to an infection with a germ which may come from goats, hogs or cattle. For the most part the disease is contracted by drinking contaminated, unpasteurized milk, though in some few cases the handling of contaminated hides

Fortunately, undulant fever is not often fatal. Nevertheless, it is a long drawn-out illness, which weakens and exhausts the patient. Moreover, it is very

The symptoms vary from patient to patient and from time to time, but in most cases there are fever, weakness, sweating, and numerous aches and pains. The condition usually occurs in attacks which last for several weeks. Between

It is not always easy to diagnose this disorder. If the symptoms are typical, the diagnosis, as a rule, can be made quickly. However, in other instances, thorough laboratory studies are necessary to make the diagnosis.

These laboratory tests include culture of the blood to determine if the germ which causes undulant fever is present, and an agglutination test which is done by mixing some of the patient's blood serum with a growth of the germs and seeing if the serum causes the germs to the material was injected, it is likely that the person has undulant fever. In addition to the redness, there is a small lump present within the skin.

According to Dr. Charles E. Zimmerman of Georgia, the treatment for undulant fever includes putting the patient to bed at complete rest. He advises giving sulfathiazole every four to six hours for six days, or until the fever has cleared up. At the same time, he gives injections of undulant fever vaccine under the

The vaccine injections are given at three-day intervals, for six injections, and then twice a week.

Treatment of undulant fever with streptomycin has also been attempted, but just how effective it may be has not as yet been determined.

What is this day? A day for flags flying and Church picnics? It's far more than that! What is this day? A day for closed stores and crowded beaches? It's far more than that! What is this day? A day for parades and speeches? Yes—that's it, July 4th, the Anniversary of America's hard-won independence is a day for parades in honor of every democratic principle by which we live; a day for speeches to waken and reawaken us all to the fact that we best fight for democracy by working for peace.

STATE SECRETARY George C. Marshall is shown holding hands with Ruth Cowan, new president of the Women's National Press Club, after the Secretary had delivered an address before the group in Washington. With obvious reference to Russia, Marshall branded as "malicious distortion of the truth" charges that the U. S. seeks to dominate other nations through its foreign-aid program. (International)

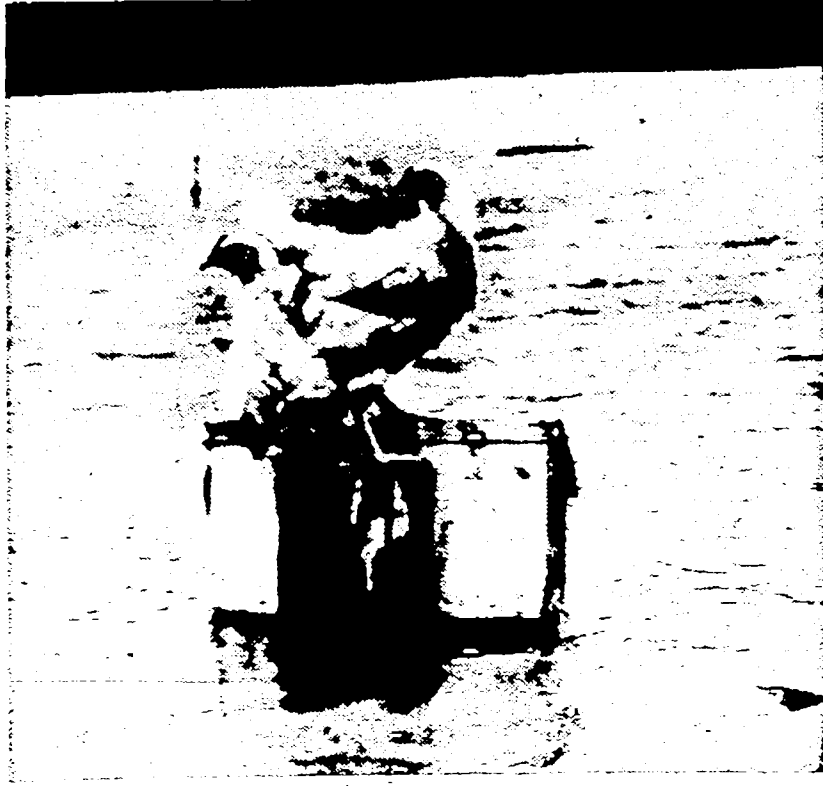

AT A LOS ANGELES HOSPITAL, Gerald Green, Jr., 3, is shown with his mother, Mrs. Zora Green, after he was literally brought back from the dead. The child swallowed a crayon and was turning black from asphyxiation. While en route to the hospital, Gerald's breathing stopped and he was pronounced dead by the ambulance doctor. On arriving at the hospital, the boy was placed under an oxygen tent and given artificial respiration. In approximately an hour and a half later, lucky little Gerald started breathing again. AFTER UNDERGOING a brain operation to cure him of criminal tendencies, Millard Wright (center) passes through the gates of Western penitentiary in Pittsburgh, Pa., to serve 2-to-12-year term for burglary. Judge G. Malcolm McDonald, who sentenced Wright, brandished the operation a "publicity stunt." (International Soundphoto)

ALL READY FOR A BIG BLOW-OUT on Independence day, the famous Hanna quadruplets tilt their paper hats at odd angles and seem quite unconcerned over the explosive possibilities of the giant cannon crackers that have been sent them. The children of war veteran Charles Henn, Jr., and his British war bride, the quads are still in St. Anne's Hospital, Baltimore. Left to right, are Bruce, Joan, Donald and Thomas. (International)

PERCHED ATOP A RURAL MAIL BOX, these hens don't look very happy at being surrounded by flood water, let in by a levee break near Harrisonville, Ill. They were later rescued by Coast Guardsmen who evacuated about 10,000 persons from the inundated area. (International)

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD Stanley Balaban (above) of the Bronx, N. Y., was chewed to death and badly mangled by a pack of dogs in a patch of shrubbery behind a bathing pool in the Bronx. A patrolman who went to investigate the case was also attacked by two of the dogs and severely injured. (International)

Rent Raising Law Has Little Effect

The new law allowing a voluntary raising of rents by 15 percent will have little effect in Boyertown. A check yesterday indicates that tenants are slow in suggesting that their rents be raised and at least one large property-holder feels that he does not wish to tie down his dwelling units for an 18-month period, which is mandatory under the law. He is a landlord and landlord agree to a voluntary 15 percent increase. He put it this way: a period of violent inflation may be expected about 1950. But if the renter keeps tying himself down with long-term leases, he will not be in a position to combat this. The same owner urged rent appraisal instead of rent control based on the 1942 level, as he put it. This would be done, he said, by having experts fix the rent-value of a dwelling unit in terms of such factors as expenses, modernity, and availability to shopping districts and schools, as well as recreation. A spokesman for a local hotel reported yesterday that generally speaking no increase in price of rooms have been made, except a raising of about 15 percent in the case of those rooms which were in the lowest-price range. Moderate and more expensive rooms remain the same in price, it was stated.

Fourth to Be Quiet In Boyertown as Many Leave for Day

Boyertown is expected to enjoy a quiet Fourth of July today for two reasons. In the first place, shooting of fireworks, cap pistols, and night displays is illegal and local police have held pre-Fourth doings in this direction to an absolute minimum. Burgess James A. Fritz called attention to the State law forbidding both the sale and discharge of fireworks and stated that police are directed to arrest any violators in the borough. And secondly, it seems as if most Boyertownians have left town for the weekend, guaranteeing peace and quiet to those who will rest in cool homes and on comfortable lawns here, instead of on glaring, crowded highways and beaches which seem to consist of humanity instead of tiny grains of sand.

Flags began to appear yesterday on Boyertown streets with one of gigantic proportions flying from the top of a large department store at the corner of East Philadelphia avenue and Washington street.

Many local persons are expected to go to Pottstown to see the parade there, in which local fire companies will participate. Parading among the anticipated 4000 marchers will be members of Keystone Stream Fire Engine company, Friendship Hook and Ladder company, Goodwill Fire company, Bally, and Gilbertsville Fire company. The Pottstown band will lead the Friendship smokesters, while William Bollman, American Legion Drum and Bugle corps of Lebanon will parade with the Keystone firemen.

The drum and bugle corps of Charles B. Yeager post 411, American Legion, will also participate, playing for the Mt. Penn fire company.

BOYERTOWN MERCHANTS OFFER SALUTE TO INDEPENDENCE DAY!

One Hundred and Seventy-One Years Young . . . And a World of Experience to Benefit By As the Years Add On

You can't embarrass Uncle Sam by asking how many candles go on the birthday cake! One hundred and seventy-one is just a ripe young age when countries get together to compare notes! And this is one land which has packed a lot of doing into the years of its growing up! Pioneering and prospecting; industrializing and populating; winning wars and forging the strength of its democracy with bands of steel. Smart for its age? America certainly is . . . and has been, right from the start. Because it knew at birth, 171 years ago, what it's taken other countries centuries to learn. Yes, America's smart for its age: So smart, that it knows every one of its own mistakes so clearly, it will try never to repeat them. So smart, that it's going to get older gracefully, never losing its youthful cheeriness and vision: never unwilling to try a new way . . . a different or better way to keep faith with those who gave it life when they drew up, signed and sealed our Declaration of Independence.

Today, as we celebrate the anniversary date of the Declaration of Independence, we also pay homage to those brave men and women who, throughout the years have willingly sacrificed everything for the preservation of the ideal of "Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Girl Found Chained To Bed on Birthday; Parents Are Jailed

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 3 (AP)—Police found pretty Geraldine Massengill, chained to a bedpost at her home today, her 16th birthday, and Chief Joe Kinsey said the girl tearfully told him her father did it to keep her at home.

"Yes, I did it. It was the only way I could keep her at home," Kinsey quoted her father, William Massengill, as saying.

Kinsey said he had jailed Massengill and his third wife, Geraldine's step-mother, on open charges and assigned two detectives to make a complete investigation.

The hazel-eyed 90-pound girl told police, Kinsey said, that this was the first time her father had chained her, but she related, he whipped her almost every week with a belt.

Kinsey said she displayed "marks across her back and hips" which apparently had been made by a leather strap.

The hard-bitten officers around police headquarters were so touched by Geraldine's story—she said she had never seen a movie, nor been swimming—that they collected funds with which to purchase her a complete new outfit.

May and Garsson Brothers Convicted

Henry and Murray Garsson (left and center) and Representative Andrew J. May were convicted on bribery conspiracy counts by a federal jury yesterday. May was wartime chairman of the House Military committee. The brothers were convicted on a charge of conspiring to defraud the United States of May's service through bribery. The jury deliberated just one hour and 50 minutes. (Story on Page One.)

Winning Lawyer in May Fraud Conviction Admits Country Background; Wants Rest

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—A self-styled country lawyer with an easy southern drawl today won his second major conviction as the Government's ace criminal prosecutor.

William A. Paisley, chief of the Department of Justice's general crimes section, handled the cases that meant convictions for: James M. Curley, mayor of Boston.

Andrew Jackson May, wartime head of the House military affairs committee.

The tall slightly stooped, bald Paisley looks like anything but a demon prosecutor.

A reporter who spent ten weeks on the trial which ended today in the conviction of May and the Garsson brothers summed up Paisley's actions around a jury with:

"You drive up to a gas pump out in the country and the guy sorta grins and says, 'Howdy.' It could be William Paisley."

Paisley himself has this version: "I just try to be natural," he says.

Being natural in the Paisley manner includes arms folded, head outthrust and an approach to a jury that varies from gentle, preaching advice to withering scorn for the city slickers working for the defense.

A reporter wondered if Paisley had done anything unusual in getting ready for the May trial.

"I'll tell you, fellow," he said, "these trials get a lot of publicity because the defendants were big men. But, shucks, I didn't handle them any different than I have dozens of others."

"There was the same long preparation, the same looking up the law until we were sure of every angle, and there was the same attempt to foresee objections and be prepared to meet 'em."

Speaking of being prepared, the 51-year-old Tennessee-born, Mississippi-reared Paisley has spent considerable time getting ready for this day.

He became an assistant U. S. attorney in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1929. He served on that job for 12 years, and then came here shortly after Pearl Harbor, to specialize in war fraud cases.

Any particular plans for the future?

"Listen, I've been doing practically nothing but this May case for might near a year now," said Paisley.

"Do you know any nice, quiet fishin' holes, fellow?"

Government Steel Plant For Sale Gets No Bids

PHILADELPHIA, July 3 (AP)—Regional Director Levy Anderson said today the War Assets Administration has not received a bid for the government-owned plant formerly operated by Harrisburg Steel company.

Bids were invited by June 27, and widespread advertising brought many inquiries but no responses, Anderson said.

The plant, cost approximately $3,500,000 and was used for the manufacture of shells and bombs.

Anderson said 13 actual requests had been received for bid forms, and ten possible purchasers asked for additional data before the bid deadline. He added WAA will communicate with those who have not formally advised they do not intend to bid and seek a commitment on the status of the property.

TREASURY BALANCE
WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—The position of the Treasury July 1: receipts $85,046,565.04, expenditures $148,043,271.21, balance $3,029,021,927.13, total debt $258,216,628,444.89; decrease under previous day $165,274,848.94.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury.

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English Laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments;

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

We have abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an unceasing destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their Legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of concinnity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, and honor.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, Free and Independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent states they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Loyola College Head Gets Scranton Post

BALTIMORE, July 3 (AP)—The Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S.J., president of Loyola College (Baltimore) since 1938, will become assistant director of the University of Scranton's labor school August 15, the Maryland Province of the Jesuit Order announced today.

Father Bunn will continue as the order's regional director of studies and will supervise the colleges and universities under Jesuit jurisdiction in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, the District of Columbia and in the dioceses of Camden and Trenton, N.J.

Announcement had been made earlier that Father Bunn would be succeeded as Loyola president by the Very Rev. Francis K. Talbot, S.J., former editor of America, National Catholic weekly.

BRITISH TURN DOWN U. S. Woman's Plea For Birth Control

LONDON, July 3 (AP)—The man in the street and the woman in the nursery agreed tonight that babies are here to stay.

And they doubted if Margaret Sanger, for all her success as a pioneer advocate of birth control in the United States, would get very far with her proposal that Britain's cradles stay empty for the next ten years.

"Perfectly fantastic!" exclaimed a Hampstead mother of three. "The idea—saying we haven't enough food to bring up our children properly. Did you ever see redder cheeks or sturdier legs than our babies have got?"

"Frankly," said a bachelor barrister, "I am afraid this Mrs. Sanger underestimates the—shall we say emotional needs—that lead to the production of babies."

These reactions were typical of those voiced by people questioned at random about Mrs. Sanger's suggestion of a moratorium on babies in Britain and other "hungry countries." Not one person in 20 agreed, even for the sake of argument.

The opening gun of a very promising controversy was sounded by the London Daily Mirror, which advised Mrs. Sanger, mother of three children and grandmother of five, to go back to America. Added the Mirror:

"Her proposal would be about as practical as telling the sun to stand still or the tide to turn back."

But gray-haired Mrs. Sanger, whose telephone has been ringing steadily since her baby ban idea first hit the headlines, wasn't the least bit fussed.

"I suppose my ideas will upset all my friends," she said. "Gunsound? Not a bit of it. There is pretty heavy overcropping in Britain. Adults could be moved to other countries instead of having babies here while food is short."

Here for a family limitation conference, Mrs. Sanger dropped her controversial bomb at a time when the British government, in the throes of a manpower shortage, is spurring the birth rate by paying parents five shillings ($1) per week for each child except the first.

Mrs. Sanger wanted the United Nations to recommend baby quotas for all countries.

Baby Shaken Up As Car Crashes Against Ice Truck

A baby was injured slightly in a crash on Upper Lewis road, a half mile north of Royersford, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The child, Gerald Lupold, aged one and one-half years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lupold, 510 Broad street, Spring City, suffered a bruised forehead, cut lip and shock. His infant sister, Sandra Lee, aged four months, was not injured, nor were the parents.

All were riding in the front seat of a sedan driven by Lupold, following an ice truck, near the entrance to Spring-Ford country club. Gene Frick, 411 Ridge avenue, Spring City, driver of the truck, going north on Lewis road to deliver ice at the country club, said another car had stopped in front of him at the country club entrance and blocked his path. As he stopped, the car driven by Lupold struck the truck in the rear.

Lupold said he was unable to stop, because when he applied his brakes he skidded on the highway, which recently was tarred. The sedan was badly damaged and was towed to a Spring City garage.

State police of Collegeville barracks investigated. The name of the driver of the car which stopped in front of the truck could not be immediately learned. Police said he had left the scene when they arrived.

Just as popular this afternoon and tonight will be Lake View Memorial park, Royersford, where an exceptional program of entertainment has been planned, including a fireworks display.

Stores, banks and post offices will not be open today. Many families and individuals have planned outings at parks, the mountains or at seashore resorts. Numerous groups have left on motor trips.
